Deal At White House Ends Steel Strike

Unemployment Mounts, Plants Short of Steel

(By The Associated Press)

Settlement of the nationwide steel strike Thursday was expected to have little immediate effect on Michigan's mounting unemployment.

Labor and industry alike voiced elation over the steel settlement. But both predicted further damage to the state's economy before normal production returns to Michigan industry.

Spokesmen for the state's heavy industries—headed by Detroit's vast automotive plant—predicted additional economic blows could be expected in the estimated four to six weeks required to get the nation's steel mills rolling at top capacity.

309,000 Unemployed

The settlement will have no effect on previously announced decisions by the Ford Motor Co. and General Motors to close 17 additional steel—short assembly plants employing a total of 35,000 workers including 14,000 in Michigan.

In addition, another 35,000 workers in the Detroit area will be idled or suffer curtailed work weeks.

The Michigan Employment Security Commission placed the state's current unemployment figure at 300,000. Most of these have applied for jobless insurance and approximately 100,000 are now drawing unemployment pay totaling $2,700,000 weekly.

A meeting in Washington today was expected to determine how soon Michigan's 18,000 steelworkers centered in the Detroit area will return to their jobs.

Tom Shane, regional director for the CIO United Steelworkers Union, will represent Michigan steel workers at the meeting of the USWS 170-man policy committee.

"Caught Flat Footed"

Chrysler Corp. and General Motors officials frankly admitted they were "caught flatfooted" by Thursday's steel settlement announcement.

One spokesman said: "We're laying plans to get back to normal operation as fast as possible, but there is no way at present of estimating how long it will take."

"Even by taking every step at our command, it will undoubtedly be several weeks before our depleted steel stocks will be adequately restored."

The Buick and Fisher Body divisions of General Motors joined Ford in announcing the 35,000 man lay-off Thursday just a few hours before the steel strike settlement.

Max M. Horton, MESC director, termed Michigan's current unemployment crisis the worst since 1949 when another steel strike and coal shortage idled more than 300,000.

Eisenhower Listens To Demo Convention

DENVER — (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee, listened over the radio last night to the tumultuous proceedings at the Democratic national convention.

He turned in the marathon Chicago session on a set at his vacation cabin in the Colorado Rockies, about 70 miles west of Denver. It was the first time the radio had been turned on for the convention, aides to the General said.

Puerto Ricans Get Self Rule

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — (AP) — Puerto Rico joyfully assumed her new role as a self-governing "free commonwealth" associated with the United States today—exactly 54 years after American troops landed on the Caribbean island during the Spanish-American war.

Flags of the new commonwealth were to flutter over all the island's public buildings at noon today, signaling the adoption of the new constitution under which the two and a quarter million Puerto Ricans will administer their own affairs.

Gov. Luis Munoz Marin, who has been active in pushing the new constitution since he became Puerto Rico's first elected governor in 1948, was to hoist the island's red, white and blue banner over the capitol building here. Parades and celebrations were planned in all the island's towns and cities.

July 25 long has been a local holiday commemorating the 1898 landing of the Americans who wrested the island from Spain's 400-year rule. From now on the legal holiday will be known as Constitution Day.

The new constitution—the latest advance in the U. S. step-by-step program of greater self-rule for the 100-mile-long island—was accepted in a referendum of the people, approved by the American Congress and signed by President Truman.

It leaves the way open for Puerto Rico to become a state in the American union later if its people desire.

The constitution abolished the power of the U. S. Congress to repeal laws passed by the island's legislature and took away from the U. S. President the power to appoint such local officials as auditors and supreme court justices.

Ask Soviet Aid For Better Treatment Of War Prisoners

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States has appealed to Russia to ask the Chinese and North Korean Communists to provide better treatment for United Nations prisoners of war in Korea.

The appeal sent also to the International Red Cross, was announced yesterday in advance of the opening at Toronto Monday of a worldwide Red Cross conference at which the various Communist regimes will be represented.

The timing was regarded here as significant.

First, if there is any real hope of success in this field, now may be the best time for trying.

Second, the appeal is a good propaganda maneuver to offset an expected Red attempt to use the Red Cross meeting as a forum for attacks on the United States and its allies.

The plea to the Russians to use their influence with the North Korean and Chinese Communist authorities to get them to carry out the Geneva convention for treatment of prisoners of war was delivered in Moscow Wednesday by Ambassador George F. Kennan. A similar request was presented about the same time to the International committee of the Red Cross at Geneva.

U. S. To Disapprove Amnesty to Nazis

Wife Shoots Hubby On Dare

MT. CLEMENS, Mich. — (AP) — A 39-year old housewife was held in the fatal shooting today of her husband who showed her how to operate his shotgun and dared her to shoot him with it.

State police said Frederick Brazzelton, 42, was killed early today in the back yard of his home four and one-half miles north of Utica.

His wife, Alberta, who called police immediately after the shooting, was arrested by State Police of the Romeo post.

Mrs. Brazzelton, according to troopers, admitted that the shotgun was in her hands when the charge was fired but said the shooting was accidental.

"Laughing and Kidding"

"We were both laughing and kidding each other when the gun went off," she said.

Mrs. Brazzelton told police she and her husband, a Detroit factory worker, went to Detroit yesterday afternoon and spent the remainder of the day in Detroit and Macomb County bars.

She said they quarreled in a Utica bar last night and Brazzelton drove home without her.

Mrs. Brazzelton said she hitchhiked home and that they had another quarrel when she returned.

"He hit me," she said, "and I threw a couple of ash trays at him. It ended up in a sort of a rough-house but neither of us was really angry."

"I got the shotgun and a shell and said 'I've a notion to shoot you but I don't know how to load this thing.'"

Mrs. Brazzelton said her husband then showed her how to load the shotgun. She said she pointed the loaded gun over his head and pulled the trigger several times without discharging the gun.

"He said, 'that's a woman for you—don't even know how to take the safety off,'" Mrs. Brazzelton said.

She said her husband showed her how to take the safety off and that he was standing about six feet from her, laughing, when the gun finally fired.

Brazzelton was struck in the head by the full charge.

Violation of Food Laws On Increase

LANSING — (AP) — Economic conditions and the high price of food were blamed today by the state agriculture department for a wave of violations of the state's food laws.

Miles A. Nelson, head of the Bureau of Marketing and Enforcement, said court convictions totaled 435 for the first six months of the year as compared with 230 for the same period last year.

The convictions represent a new high.

"Most of the violations were misbranding and adulteration of products such as potatoes, sausage and hamburger," Nelson said.

"With food prices high so is the temptation to try to get away with something."

Truman Spares Collazo's Life

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman is sparing the life of the Puerto Rican who tried to assassinate him at Blair House in 1950.

Presidential secretary Joseph Short announced — without comment — late yesterday that the death sentence of Oscar Collazo had been commuted to life imprisonment.

The 38-year-old Puerto Rican had been scheduled to die in the electric chair here on Aug. 1 for his part in the death plot.

Collazo's fight for life had been rebuffed by the highest federal courts. Truman, the man he tried to kill, was his last source of clemency.

Collazo was wounded and a companion, Griselio Torresola, was killed in a furious gun battle with the President's guards on Nov. 1, 1950. A White House spokesman, Private Leslie Coffelt, was killed but Collazo's attorney said it was Torresola's gun which shot the guard.

However, the law makes no distinction between companions in a felony which results in a murder.

Collazo, who has refused personally to ask clemency, testified at his trial that he and Torresola did not intend to kill anyone but came here to demonstrate on behalf of Puerto Rican independence.

Now, according to Major Louie P. Blanchet, local commander, inspectors rate the Michigan organization "better than any of the score of other centers" despite the still incomplete staff.

Sharpshooter And Decoy Kill Nine Red Snipers

WITH U. S. FIRST MARINE DIVISION, Korea — (AP) — A sharp-shooting sergeant using a fellow Marine as a decoy claims a perfect but highly unofficial record — nine Chinese snipers killed with nine bullets.

But the company commander put a stop to the bizarre tactics. The Marines today released the story.

Sgt. John E. Boitnoot of Chicago, a medal-winning marksman, and Pfc Henry A. Friday of Nekeosha, Wis., were stationed on an outpost far forward of the Marine division's main line of defense.

They devised this deadly game: Friday, acting as a decoy, would expose himself until a Chinese sniper opened fire. Boitnoot, armed with a rifle mounted with

Compromise Is Reached On All Disputed Issues

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The longest, costliest steel strike in American history in effect is over. Production is expected to resume next week.

The striking CIO Steelworkers Union was considered virtually certain to ratify a strike — end agreement reached at the White House after President Truman personally demanded — and got — a settlement.

It was not a clear cut victory for anyone concerned—the union, industry, or the government. There was give and take on all sides.

The end of the crippling, 53-day strike was announced late yesterday by the President himself, with CIO President Philip Murray and U. S. Steel Chairman Benjamin Fairless standing beside him.

Calling newsmen into his own office—a rare occurrence—Truman told them Murray and Fairless "have reached agreement on important basic issues" after day-long conferences, and predicted a "speedy resumption of steel production."

$5.20 A Ton Increase

He said Murray would meet today (1 p. m. EST) with his 175-man wage-policy committee to obtain ratification of the agreement.

Fairless, it was reliably learned, plans to make a personal appearance before this committee in a dramatic move aimed at wiping out any bitterness. The union invited him to make a short talk to the group after a closed session during which actual ratification of the agreement was scheduled.

At best it will be four or five days before any substantial production of steel is reached. It takes that long to heat up the banked blast furnaces which stand-by workers have kept alive ever since the strike started June 2.

The new steel which comes out of some 380 struck plants will sell for at least $5.20 a ton more than before the strike started.

A few minutes after Truman's

Lower Peninsula Air Spotting Crews About 50% Manned

GRAND RAPIDS — (AP) — More than 50 per cent of Lower Michigan's ground observation posts are now being manned on a 24-hour basis, officials of the Grand Rapids air raid filter center announced today. A week ago only 30 per cent were manned.

In addition, some 60 volunteers have been added to the staff of the filter center here to help plot the course of planes over Michigan spotted by the ground observers.

Operation Skywatch, permanent 24-hour alert for ground observers in 27 states, went into effect two weeks ago. So few volunteers manned their posts, however, that the state program was termed a feeble effort.

Union Official Held For Assault

LANSING — (AP) — A union official charged with assault following a picket line disturbance demanded examination in justice court here yesterday and was released under $1,500 bond.

Marion Woods, president of local 93 of the CIO retail, wholesale and department stores employees union was charged with assault to do great bodily harm less than murder.

Duane Graham, a salesman for the Cuban Honey Co. made the complaint. Graham was treated for a scalp wound after a scuffle developed when he tried to drive his car through a union picket line around the company plant.

Kefauver Gains With Michigan Delegation

By JACK I. GREEN
CHICAGO — (AP) — Michigan leaders believe that last night's riotous Democratic convention session strengthened the hand of Sen. Estes Kefauver in their delegation.

The 72-man delegation fought in the Kefauver legions throughout the marathon 14-hour session, although Gov. G. Mennen Williams insisted that Kefauver was only an ally and not the leader.

To the bulk of the Michigan delegation the issue all night long was what they called "northern liberalism against the machine bosses and the Dixiecrats."

Unit Rules Prevails

Williams tossed his delegation's full 40 votes against seating the Virginia delegation on the theory that it was a violation of the Moody resolution to impose a loyalty pledge on Southern Democrats.

French Troops Repel Chinese

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

SEOUL, Korea — (AP) — French infantrymen today hurled back a 500 - man Chinese Communist drive on T-Bone Hill in a bloody opening to the 26th month of the Korean war.

French defenders of the western front inflicted heavy losses during two hours of pre-dawn hand-to-hand combat.

Three Red companies advanced at 2 a. m. against the hill west of Chorwon, an old iron triangle anchorage.

Red Troops Withdraw

Artillery bursts punctuated hand-to-hand fighting as the 500 Communists got caught in cross-fire of French positions at the bottom end of T-Bone.

A frontline Allied officer estimated 56 Chinese were killed and 150 wounded. The cut-up Red forces withdrew at 4 a. m.

The French battalion is attached to the U. S. Second Infantry division, which has fought the Chinese since July 17 for possession of nearby Old Baldy Hill.

Earlier today the U. S. Eighth Army permitted identification of the second division as the unit assigned to hold the series of hills overlooking the main battle front. The U. S. 45th Division last month wrested the heights from the Communists in some of the heaviest fighting of the war this year.

Ground Action Light

The Chinese regained the crest of Old Baldy Tuesday.

Overcast skies reduced Allied air activity to fighter-bomber strikes on the front this morning.

Ground action Thursday was light, except that Communist artillery and mortar shelling totaled 4,193 rounds, almost double that of the previous day.

Thursday, Communist targets on the Haeju peninsula area immediately behind Red positions on the western front were attacked by night-flying B-26s and Marine fighter-bombers. The fighter-bombers flew in close support strikes for Allied infantrymen and the B-26s bombed supply and oil storage dumps at Chaeryong and near Sinchon, both near the west coast.

Thurston said that last year 4-300 special certificates had to be issued to teachers for the elementary grades. This year, he predicted, the number may run as high as 5,500 certificates.

Rural school and the small villages will be hardest hit, Thurston said.

"Unfortunately," he said, "the need is as great or greater for competent teachers in these districts as it is in city districts."

Buick Will Close Auto Plant Tonight

FLINT, Mich. — (AP) — Buick motors division of General Motors Corp. announced today it will halt all assembly of cars here at midnight Friday.

General Manager Ivan L. Wiles said "We are taking advantage of this shutdown to take our annual inventory. We plan to resume production in the early part of August to the extent permitted by the material situation."

Buick has been operating on a limited production basis for the last two weeks as a result of the steel shortage.

Wiles said Buick production this month will be the lowest since July, 1946, when 14,744 cars were built.

Hopefuls Seek To Balk Draft Of Stevenson

By JACK BELL
CONVENTION HALL, Chicago — (AP) — Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois picked up terrific momentum today in a labor-backed surge toward the Democratic presidential nomination.

With the balloting proceeding slowly, the Illinois governor racked up the powerful support of the CIO Political Action Committee.

At the same time, a strategist for Averell Harriman conceded that the New Yorker and the only all-out "Fair Dealer" among 11 presidential aspirants, soon may fall by the wayside.

But Harriman himself said after a conference with Stevenson: "I am still a candidate for the presidency."

He said no deals were discussed, adding: "I am certainly not a candidate for the vice presidency."

Stevenson Gains Strength

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, linked with Harriman in various "Fair Deal" convention maneuvers which have failed, was in line to benefit from the New Yorkers' possible withdrawal.

Kefauver, apparently short of the votes necessary for the top spot on the ticket, was reported to be maneuvering for a Stevenson-Kefauver ticket.

The Stevenson bandwagon was rolling along swiftly. His floor leaders predicted nomination on the second or third ballot.

Just before Chairman Sam Rayburn opened this climatic session of the party's 31st convention, CIO political action director, asked all CIO member delegates to vote for Stevenson "as soon as they can fulfill their commitments"—that is after they had first honored any promises to give one round of vote to others.

Kroll's move was a blow to Kefauver and Harriman.

Whipped in a terrific last night's early today battle over seating Southern rebels against a loyalty pledge, they had hoped for a shift of sentiment before today's assembly.

They believed they had perhaps slowed a Stevenson steam-roller by delaying tactics which stalled off a presidential ballot last night although leaders kept the convention in session until two o'clock in the morning.

Humphrey States View

The way the Stevenson forces maneuvered to seat the Virginia, Louisiana and South Carolina delegations, despite their refusal to take a loyalty pledge, pointed toward a southerner as the No. 2 man on the ticket—if Stevenson wins.

But those Northern elements which fly the "liberal" banner indicated they would scrap to get one of their men accepted.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, who has been working with the Kefauver-Harriman combine on test issues, told reporters he personally wouldn't mind seeing Stevenson the party nominee "as long as there's another liberal on the ticket."

"I've been pleading with Harriman, Kefauver and liberal Stevenson people to get together," Humphrey said.

At a pre-season caucus of the

C&NW Ore Docks May Reopen Here Tuesday

Settlement of the steel strike today paved the way for a back-to-work order for 175 Chicago & North Western Railway ore dock workers at Escanaba, possibly by Tuesday next week.

The call-back here will follow the resumption of mining operations and the shipment of iron ore to Escanaba. If the mines reopen Monday ore may be received here by Tuesday.

Other C&NW Railway employees, including switchmen and car repairmen, who have been out of work because of the strike, also will be returned.

Off 1,618,472 Tons
The two C&NW ore docks at Escanaba have been virtually closed since June 17, although a few vessels were loaded during the strike.

"It will be impossible here to make up any part of the 1,618,472 tons of ore lost to the steel industry during the strike," said L. A. N. "fillan, dock agent.

Last year to date a total of 3,252,910 tons of ore had been shipped from Escanaba. To date this year the total is 1,633,438.

Three vessels, one loaded and two empty, are now at dock here. The Chisholm, which loaded June 17, layed over at Escanaba during the strike. She will clear soon for South Chicago. The steamers L. W. Hill and G. W. Fink are waiting for ore.

Worms Damaging Michigan Pines

The jack pine budworm, which has been in outbreak in localized areas of Michigan for the past three years, offers a very real threat to jack pine stands, according to tallies of damage in the forests of Michigan and Minnesota.

Substantial losses directly associated with the budworm have been reported in these states in jack pine of all size classes, and severe defoliation has occurred on the Rapid River Ranger District of the Hiawatha National Forest in the Upper Peninsula and on the Huron National Forest and the Au Sable, Higgins Lake, and Ogemaw State Forests in Lower Michigan.

Timberland owners are warned by Dr. Daniel M. Benjamin of Milwaukee, noted entomologist, to be alert to the menace of continued budworm attack.

Mortality Of Trees
Recommended by him to reduce damage are salvage cuttings in areas of most severe defoliation and the removal of suppressed and orchard-type jack pine trees conducive to building up the budworm population.

To see whether any timber losses had occurred in the infested stands on the Huron National Forest and to determine their extent, a timber-drain survey was recently conducted on this forest by Dr. Benjamin in cooperation with the U. S. Forest Service.

He found that in the infested trees, tree mortality was 3 per cent in pole-size timber, 8 per cent in saplings four inches in diameter, and 33 per cent in some saplings two inches in diameter. The toll of seedling trees ran as high as 42 per cent in some stands.

Smaller Trees Hit
Final losses resulting from the outbreak, he said, will depend on the course taken by the outbreak in the next few seasons.

Continued defoliation will undoubtedly result in increased losses in the smaller size classes and mortality and top-killing in merchantable trees. Should the outbreak diminish, Dr. Benjamin conjectured, the trees showing the least defoliation will recover and losses will be less severe.

Surveys to follow the course of the outbreak are planned for later this year.

NEW YORK—(AP)—As the week progressed, commentators became more and more active in the broadcasts of the Democratic convention.

This was due largely to the fact that more time had to be filled in while awaiting for the sessions to sit; also because a lot of the off-the-floor developments needed explanation.

Despite this increase in radio and TV discussion, there was not nearly as much unnecessary talking over the convention speakers or other procedures as was the case a couple of weeks ago.

ported to 62 vessels of Pittsburgh Steamship Co., operator of the Great Lakes largest iron ore hauling fleet, the Associated Press reports.

The call-back order went out last night as soon as Pittsburgh Steamship, a U. S. Steel subsidiary, learned the agreement announced at the White House yesterday covered 23,000 striking iron ore workers.

The ore workers, members of the CIO United Steelworkers, struck shortly after the USW's national walkout in the basic steel industry 54 days ago.

Within 48 Hours
Three and a half months of the shipping season remain, and—because of the strike—the amount of ore moved downlakes is only half of what it was at this date during last season. Thus far in 1952 only about 21,600,000 tons of ore have been shipped.

Within three days after iron ore mining resumes, shipping traffic should be well on the way back to normal. Stockpiles now at mines amount to about 7,000,000 tons, and the freshly mined ore will begin reaching docks in quantity about 48 hours after the diggers resume.

Between 70 and 80 vessels are moored at Duluth, Minn., and Superior, Wis. They have steam up and will start racing downlakes as fast as they can be loaded from ore on hand at the docks and mines. Congestion at the loading docks is expected to create a problem for about a week.

Large Tonnage Lost
Even with the utmost effort from now until the shipping season ends in early November, the lakes fleet will be unable to haul more than roughly three-fourths of the 90,000,000 tons of ore that was set as the 1952 goal.

When shipping started April 1, there were about 21,000,000 tons of ore left from last season's haul. This tonnage plus 15,000,000 tons that normally would have been used in June and July but was not used because of the strike will provide steelmakers with some protection against the 21,000,000 tons of ore lost by the miners' strike.

Offsetting this to some extent is the probability that ore consumption for the remainder of the year and in the first quarter of 1953 will exceed that of a year ago as the industry tries to catch up on lost production.

The men who will report for induction in Milwaukee the following day are David N. Rademacher, Escanaba (leader), Robert G. Rae, Escanaba, and Donald J. Cota of Garden.

Twelve selectees who will undergo physical examinations at the Milwaukee Induction Center and then return to Escanaba are from:

Escanaba—John B. Thornberg; William J. Hirn (assistant leader); Merle A. Nelson, Thomas J. Beaton, James B. Moran (leader of the group); Donald F. St. Ours, Rte. 1, Escanaba; and Earl A. Chouinard, Rte. 1, Escanaba.

Gladstone—Clinton C. Butler, Douglas A. Johnson; Cornell—Adolph Nelson; Clarence J. Evans; Rapid River—William Froberg and Harry D. Nephew.

Induction orders to 12 men selected for the August quota have been mailed this week, according to draft official Mary Wagner, and notices to 25 August preinductees are being mailed today.

Both of these groups will leave Escanaba Aug. 13.

The local selective service has also been advised that young men who have had their preinduction physical examinations can still enlist in the service of their choice up to the time that they receive their induction orders.

"Once they have been notified of the date on which they must report for induction, they are prohibited from enlisting in any service branch," Miss Wagner emphasized.

State Jobless Total Climbs

DETROIT—(AP)—Michigan's unemployment, on the rise because of the steel strike, was estimated officially today at 285,000—the greatest since the tremendous layoffs of the immediate post-World War II period.

The estimates were based on July 15 records.

The State of Michigan will be paying out $4,000,000 weekly in unemployment compensation on the basis of claims from jobless persons, it was said.

Payments are made from the state's $359,000,000 unemployment compensation fund. Michigan's 26,000 steel plant strikers are not eligible. The law does not permit compensation to strikers.

Michigan's total idle in the steel strike has risen markedly in the last three weeks.

Detroit was given the bulk of the total idle—185,000. This left outstate Michigan with 100,000.

The commission said that if the steel strike continues Michigan's unemployment possibly will reach 355,000 by Aug. 15.

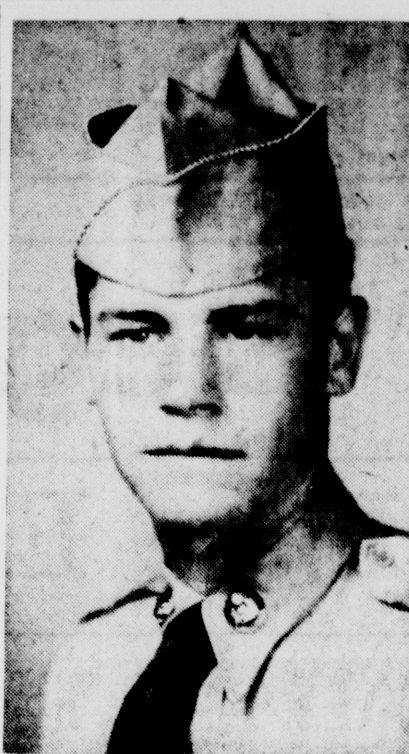

Claims for unemployment compensation were more than double last week the agency said, going from 71,291 to 157,415 in the state as a whole.

Except for the economic disaster period of the 1930s, only the last months of 1945 and February of 1946 produced greater unemployment. The figure for October of 1945 was 450,000 to 500,000. By February, however, it was down to 290,000.

During the reconversion troubles of last winter the worst was 174,000.

The MESG said its current tabulations do not include 26,000 steelworker strikers in Michigan. Those actually engaged in a strike are not eligible for MESG benefits.

Michigan Architects To Convene July 31 On Mackinac Island

About 2,000 invitations have been sent to architects throughout the United States, Arntzen said, and the attendance is expected to be in the hundreds as in previous conference sessions.

Officers Recover Another Auto In Burglary Series

Another car stolen by thieves in the string of U. P. auto thefts about two weeks ago was recovered last night by the Delta county sheriff's officers.

This one, taken from C. T. Taylor of Munising on July 11, was found on the Gladstone bluff where it was presumably abandoned with a flat tire. The car was driven against a small pine tree in high grass about three-fourths of a mile from a spot where the bluff road is being repaired.

Officials definitely link the car with the series of auto burglaries that stretched from St. Ignace through Wisconsin and into Illinois from July 11 to 17.

The car was a 1950 Chevrolet sedan.

NMCE To Offer Art Course Here

A course in art procedure for the elementary grades will be offered in Escanaba from Aug. 4 to 28 under the in-service education department of Northern Michigan College of Education. The course, which will carry three hours of residence credit, will be taught in the Junior High School at a time convenient to those who enroll here. The enrollment meeting is set for 9:30 a. m. Monday, Aug. 4.

Persons intending to take the art course are asked to contact county superintendent of schools Hagle Quarnstrom in the Webster Annex by Tuesday, July 29. The tuition fee is $28.50. The art education course, No. 316, is designed for prospective teachers in the elementary school and will be taught by Dr. Cleobelle Harrison, head of the NMCE art department, who has been a faculty member at the college for the past six years.

She has attended several art schools in the Midwest and just this summer received her doctorate at the University of Michigan.

The course she will teach here deals with the development of the teacher's ability to stimulate the interest of children in art and to understand the art merit of their expressions. It includes lectures, reading, papers, lesson plans, supervised observations, and the building of workable art plans for any elementary situation.

Art Procedure 316 was formerly scheduled to be given here in the past spring but was postponed until now because of Dr. Harrison's unavailability at that time.

Superintendent Quarnstrom requests that persons considering enrolling in the course contact his office as soon as possible so that NMCE officials may have an enrollment figure by July 29.

Enjoy Modern Living
IN A Thermopane SOLAR HOUSE
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

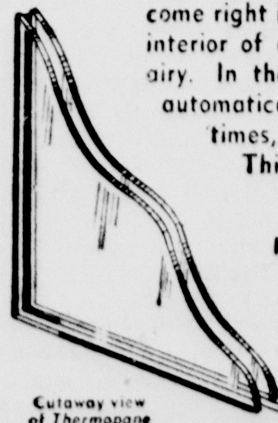

For years, people have been living in houses with relatively small windows because, for one thing, large window areas were often impractical—due to heat loss. Today, with Thermopane—the Libbey-Owens-Ford windowpane that insulates—large window walls are possible without sacrificing heating economy. Insulating Thermopane consists of two or more panes of glass, separated by a dehydrated air space and sealed around the edges with an exclusive metal-to-glass bond.

Thermopane has made practical a new concept in home design—the Solar House. A Solar House is one built with large glass areas facing south. It controls the entrance of the sun's rays with a roof overhang—like a visor on a cap. This roof overhang permits heat rays from the sun to penetrate through the windows in winter; it excludes the hot sun's rays, but not daylight, in the summer. This development has brought new enjoyment to modern homes.

Solar Houses seem more spacious and cheerful because there is no barrier to vision between the indoors and outside. The beauties of nature seem to come right inside the house. Daylight floods the interior of a Solar House, making it light and airy. In the winter, even on coldest days, an automatically-controlled furnace turns off, at times, as the sun's heat warms the interior. This results in fuel savings.

Why don't you consider the many practical advantages of a Solar House for your family? We will be glad to provide helpful suggestions and co-operate with your architect.

Editorials—

Living Costs Still Climb; High Federal Spending Is Main Cause

LIVING costs continue to go up, proving that we have not yet stopped the frightening spiral of inflation. The latest figures announced by the Bureau of Labor Statistics showed that the cost of living in mid-June was the highest in history.

Government leaders blame business and industry for higher living costs but a major cause is government debt and particularly high federal spending. We could call a halt to the inflationary spiral simply by reducing federal spending and by making some definite, long range plans for repaying the debt.

The tragedy of the whole thing is that political leaders of Mr. Truman's administration have shown no inclination to cut federal spending, but on the contrary with eyes on the election, the administration has advocated even more costly government handouts to more people for more purposes.

The terrific federal tax load adds sharply to the cost of every item and every service we buy. It is, in fact, the most costly part of every selling price.

If you are genuinely concerned about inflation—and certainly you should be—you had better be concerned about federal spending and join in the campaign to cut the terrific cost of government.

Observe Safety Rules At Beach

ESCANABA has been fortunate the past several years in the absence of drownings at Ludington Park beach.

The word "fortunate" is used advisedly, for those who are familiar with the ever-present danger when the swimming season starts know that drownings can occur no matter how well-guarded is the beach. Accidents can and do happen as suddenly to swimmers in the water as to motorists on the highway.

Fortunately the factors of water safety are easily followed by the individual swimmer, and following them he is not likely to run into difficulties or lose his life. Primary safety rules at the beach can be described as follows:

Stay in shallow water unless you are a good swimmer.

Swim only in the area marked off for that purpose.

Do not swim when you are tired or enter the water soon after eating.

Violating these rules is dangerous and can lead to tragedy. Ignoring the rules as of no consequence encourages others to do likewise. The result may be loss of your life, or the life of someone dear to you.

There is a dual responsibility to see that fundamental water safety rules are observed at the beach. The first obligation is upon the individual swimmer; and it is the duty of the lifeguard to warn persons from danger before they get into difficulties as well as attempt to save their lives after the accident happens.

Persons who go to the beach should inform themselves of the hours when the lifeguards are on duty. If the public insists on swimming after hours it does so at its own risk.

Young children (say under nine years of age) should be accompanied by parent or other adult when they visit the beach. When the beach is crowded the guards cannot watch over every tiny head, and the city beach is not a tiny tots nursery and the guards are not nursemaids.

At many public beaches in larger cities the policy is to turn unaccompanied youngsters over to the police, who notify the parents that their child is "lost."

Certainly this practice has merit. And it is better that the unaccompanied child be thus protected than to incur the risk of a life lost by drowning.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

CHICAGO—Politics can be a cruel business. The cruelest blows dealt in the current race for the Democratic presidential nomination were to Vice President Alben Barkley and Averell Harriman. Undoubtedly, they were not meant to be cruel, for in Barkley's case they came from those who love him most—his wife, Leslie Biffle, and the President. However, it will probably embitter him for the remainder of his life.

The stage was set for Barkley to enter the presidential race on July 5, the last day Congress was supposed to meet, at a luncheon given by Senate Secretary Biffle, the Veep's close personal and political friend. Since Congress was supposed to close that day, President Truman returned to his old stamping ground, attended the lunch, had a couple of bourbons and was pulled to one side for a conference with Biffle.

Biffle is the man who put Barkley across as Vice President at the Philadelphia convention in 1948; also the man who, posing as a chicken salesman, toured the country taking political soundings that summer and predicted Truman could win. He has long wanted the Veep to become President; likewise the new Mrs. Barkley.

So, at this luncheon, Biffle urged Truman to switch his support from Harriman, then his No. 1 choice, to the much-loved, elderly Veep.

Truman agreed.

The very next day Barkley, buoyed up by hope and spurred on by his wife, made a formal announcement that he would actively push his campaign. That was why, on arriving in Chicago, he walked from the railroad station to the hotel. That was also why the party bosses passed out word that it's "Barkley the White House wants."

However, the days when the President can hand down orders on his successor and get them obeyed are past. When George Harrison, head of the AFL Railroad Clerks, heard this from Bill Boyle, former chairman of the Democratic National Committee, he phoned the White House, insisted on talking to the President direct, and the following conversation took place:

"Mr. President, Bill Boyle tells me you have selected Barkley."

"That's right," replied the President.

"Well, that puts me on an awfully long limb because I have been pushing Harriman as you indicated 10 days ago," responded Harrison.

"Well, stay out on the limb for a little while longer," was Truman's cryptic reply.

Whether the President meant by this that he was merely using Barkley as a stalking horse to stop Kefauver is not known. However, the much-loved and now embittered Veep will never recover from that political blow.

HARRIMAN A FUTURE POWER

The blow at Averell Harriman was not quite so brutal, chiefly because he is a younger man.

What happened was that Paul Fitzpatrick, top Democratic leader of New York, wanted a "holding candidate"—a man who could hold New York's big block of delegates together, thus permitting Fitzpatrick to trade at the convention and throw the New York delegates at the right time.

First Fitzpatrick approached New York's Sen. Herbert Lehman. Lehman, past 70, ridiculed the idea. He said he had no chance to become President and didn't want the New York delegates pledged to him.

Next Fitzpatrick went to Harriman, urged him to run for President. Harriman took him seriously, jumped in with all his energy, plus considerable money, and proceeded to put on a bang-up campaign. In fact, he put on such a good campaign that even his best friends were surprised.

Fitzpatrick has stuck with him, but does not look happy about it. He wears a little Harriman button, sits back, goes through the motions of steering the Harriman campaign, but there is no passion in his drive, no optimism in his voice. He is merely paying lip service to a commitment he made.

For novice Harriman, however, this has been an experience. He has found himself able to make better speeches than the old-timers, he has snapped out of his habitual shyness, and he will be a politician to be reckoned with in future administrations.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Moscow — The Germans were claiming to have captured Rostov, but the Russians denied it. The Soviets were about to make a last stand on the Don River.

Cairo—British forces were bombing axis bases and making headway in the fight to hold the key spots in the northern front.

Escanaba—Gwenlyn and Paul Laviolette were visiting with relatives in Oconto, Wis.

Escanaba—Mrs. F. W. Drake was visiting her daughter Ruth who was a student at NMCE in Marquette.

Gladstone—Pat Quinn and David Brown, left for Houghton where they attended the NYA trade school.

Manistique — Mrs. Harold Plichta and son Bruce were visiting in Marquette and Michigamme.

20 YEARS AGO

Washington, D. C.—Nine men were jailed in another attempt to picket the White House by members of the bonus army. Police clubs halted the veterans after a half hour's sporadic fighting along Washington's busiest thoroughfares.

Escanaba—Mr. and Mrs. Gust Soderberg, Miss Elvira Lied and Melvin Ehnert spent a weekend fishing on Little Round Lake.

Gladstone—Rev. Gideon Olson arrived to spend a month with his family. He arrived from Brooklyn, N. Y.

Manistique—Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Reigel and friends of Escanaba visited with Mr. and Mrs. John I. Bellaire.

Architectural styles change from time to time but the last word in many modern homes is the wife's.

An Oklahoma man claims he broke a tooth while eating spaghetti. Now he wants to put the bite on his grocer.

Those who have what it takes quite often take what other folks have.

Now It's the Donkey's Turn to Apply the Heat

Moffett Field Scientists Tackle Supersonic Flight Heat Barrier

By SHERMAN MONTROSE

NEA Staff Correspondent

MOFFETT FIELD, Calif. — (NEA)—It may sound odd, but in the 60-degree-below-zero temperatures in which today's fastest planes travel, it isn't the cold that worries the scientists who are working out the problems of tomorrow's plane—it's the heat.

Scientists at The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics' Ames Aeronautical Laboratory here regard temperature — and high temperature, not low — as being the biggest stumbling block to man's efforts to travel faster and faster in the faster-than-sound speed range.

At supersonic flight levels, the rush of air past a plane's wings, tail and fuselage causes terrific friction. The friction causes heat. Not long ago a Douglas Skyrocket streaked at 1300 miles per hour above California's Mojave Desert. In the cramped cockpit, the pilot was cooled by a refrigerator with sufficient capacity to cool a theater seating 3000 to 4000 persons.

But it's not merely keeping the pilot cool or in an air-conditioned cockpit that worries Ames people. High temperatures weaken aluminum structural parts, thus requiring heavier construction. The heavier the plane, the shorter the range.

Friction of the air through which the plane travels could very well cause a plane to melt—if it travels too fast, engineers now say.

While temperatures encountered by the Skyrocket on its 1300-miles-per-hour run are a secret, some figures have been released. At 2000 mph, for example, air friction creates heat of 600 degrees—enough to weaken aluminum alloys; at about 3300 mph—heat may rise to as much as 1600 degrees — heat that would sap the strength of any steel now used in plane construction.

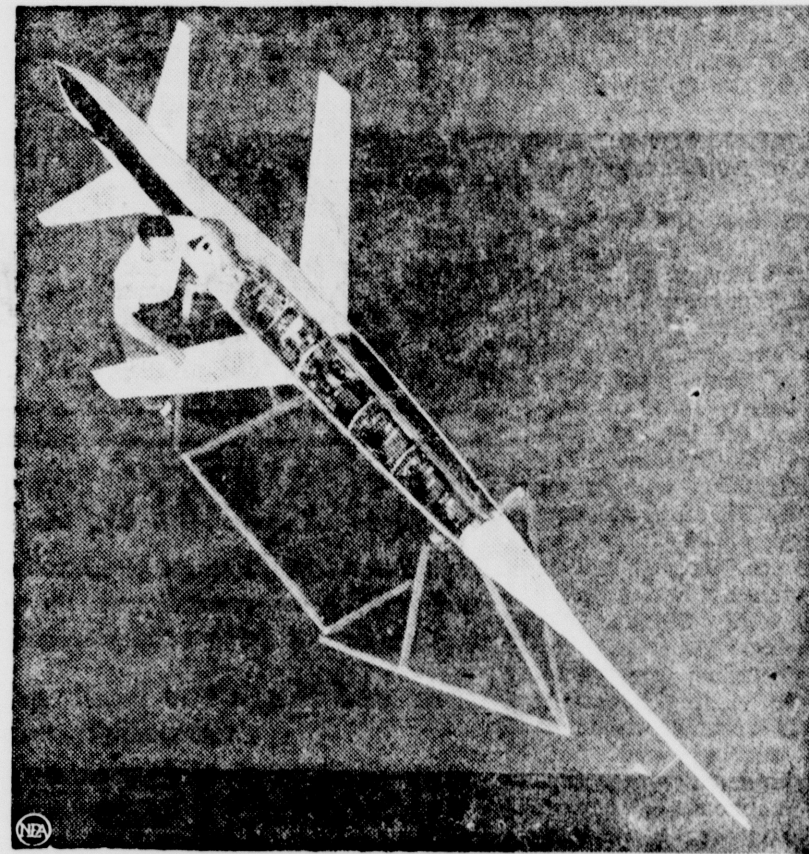

To attack and solve the problems of this new "barrier of heat," major contributions are expected from the Bell X-2, a stainless steel research airplane designed to investigate high supersonic speeds where aerodynamic heating will be experienced.

The problem of heat is only one phase of supersonic flying being tackled at this vast air laboratory.

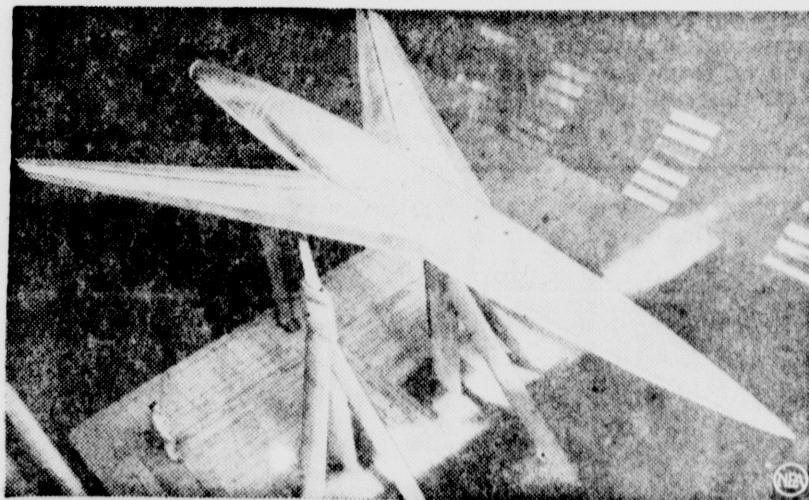

Here are wind tunnels, one of them the largest in the world. Here are smaller, supersonic tunnels, in which the wind screeches like a thousand banshees as it beats against plane models exerting a force equivalent to actual travel at twice the speed of sound.

This is a world of aerodynamic terminology which confuses the layman; of needle-nosed fighters with virtually no wings; of huge die casting machines; of complex recording machinery used aloft and on the ground; a world of research to find the materials and the mechanics that will go into the planes of tomorrow.

A peek into a supersonic tunnel, visible on a projected screen, shows the shock waves that bend like the strings of a bow around the model. The scream of the wind drowns out all other sounds in the room.

"FLYING BODY:" One way scientists peek into supersonic flights of the future is with recoverable "bodies" like the one above. Packed with instruments shown here in cutaway view, the bodies are mounted with various types of wings and dropped from high altitudes. Another test method is the more conventional wind tunnel model, like the one being prepared below to study effect of porous leading-edge wings.

Report Ouster Of Rakosi, Hungary's Red Dictator

By LEON DENNEN

MUNICH, Germany — (NEA)—Mathias Rakosi, Red dictator of Hungary and the last of the Communist stalwarts who once ruled behind the Iron Curtain, is reported to have been ousted by Moscow.

According to underground labor sources, Hungary is now ruled by a triumvirate of Soviet citizens of Hungarian origin who are also ranking members in the Russian secret police. These are Erno Gero, Minister of Economic Planning; Josef Reval, Minister of Education; and Peter Gabor, chief of the Hungarian secret police.

The purge of Rakosi has not yet been officially acknowledged. Having spent something like 14 years in prison under the prewar Horthy regime, he is still the most popular Hungarian Communist. It would thus be difficult to purge him as brutally as were Ana Pauker in Rumania and Rudolf Slansky in Czechoslovakia.

There is growing belief that the purges also reflect the struggle for the succession to Stalin inside the all-powerful Soviet Politburo.

With Stalin ill and ostensibly preparing to retire, the fight for his mantle between Vyacheslav Molotov and Georgi Malenkov, secretary of the Russian Communist Party, has reportedly become acute.

The disgrace of Rakosi followed the visit to Hungary of Marshall Nikolai Bulganin, a member of the Soviet Politburo. Bulganin represents the Red Army forces in the Politburo and is believed to be a Molotov man. Malenkov is backed by Laurenti Beria, mysterious chief of Russia's secret police.

Molotov, who is known to rely exclusively on the power of the Red Army, has long been hostile to the Cominform and the satellite leaders, like Rakosi, who were once connected with it.

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

GETTING A TRIMMING—The Escanaba Parks and Forestry Department has been subjected to some unjustifiable criticism lately regarding the untrimmed appearance of Ludington Park in some locations.

Robert "Bob" Clayton, superintendent of that department, reports that what the people don't know about the situation is hurting his reputation as a neat park-keeper.

"Grass is growing long in several places in the park because of the high water, which prevents us from taking the mower into those locations," Bob explained. "Either the machine mires down in the marshes or falls into a hole near the docks."

The blame, if any, attaches to the high water levels of the Great Lakes. And not even the government has been able to do anything about it.

THE BIG WHITE HOUSE — In recent columns we have commented on the Robert Peacock family at Garth in the old days, when the location was known as Peacock's Point and the Peacock Lumber Company's mill was the center of a thriving town.

Mrs. Theodore Farrell of 411 First Ave. S., tells me the Peacock family lived in a large white house at what is now Garth Point and that she visited there many times when she was a girl. Carrie Peacock, one of the daughters, now married, was a friend of Mrs. Farrell, who is the former Hattie Van Dyke.

Not only did Robert Peacock live in Delta county but he was one of its civic leaders. In 1880 when the county sought a site for a court house, Peacock was one of a committee of four who chose the location the Court House now occupies in Escanaba.

Other members of that committee were the late Thomas J. Streeter, John B. Roff and Charles E. Brotherton. They recommended and the county bought the site then owned by D. A. Oliver, Sr.

LOVELY TO LOOK AT — Werner Vietzke of Rapid River is not the only collector of agates in Delta county.

Walter O. Jacobsen of 1406 Second Ave. N., Escanaba, has quite a few of the semi-precious stones—but his come from Montana rather than the Northern Michigan country.

Jacobsen started his collection back about 1915 when he was employed in that state and he brought some of them back to Escanaba with him. Most of the agates he found he had made up into polished sets for brooches and rings and gave them to relatives and friends.

"But some of them I sold," he said. "One of the finest agates I found brought me $14."

In river bottoms around Billings, Sydney and Glendive in Montana the agate hunters pick their way, some of the hunters being employed by jewelry stores in the area. Nearly every jeweler had at least one man busy with cutting and polishing the stones — which are a form of petrified wood.

One of the most beautiful agate forms is described as the "moss agate," often variegated in color but all having the typical moss-like mottling. Montana moss agates are reputedly the fourth hardest gem known to man and require diamond dust to polish them.

Jacobsen, employed most of his years in the laundry business, now operates rug cleaning equipment. He's very busy at the spring housecleaning rush but at other seasons has time to pore over his Montana agate collection.

FIRST PRESIDENT—With the national presidential conventions very much in the news, it may interest readers to know that some authorities hold that George Washington was not the "first president" of the United States.

The real "first president" was a Marylander named John Hanson, a noted political leader who served on many important committees during the Revolutionary War. On Nov. 5, 1781, he was elected by the Continental Congress as "President of the United States in Congress assembled," and held that office a year.

Under the heading of other information is the fact, reports the Encyclopedia Britannica, that James Madison was the first U. S. President to wear long trousers. Until his time knee breeches were the vogue.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

QUESTIONS THE READERS ASK

Chicago.—"My dictionary does not contain the word Shavian. Can you tell me what it means and what was its source?" —H. F. M.

Answer.—About forty-five years ago someone took the surname of George Bernard Shaw, gave it the Latin form, Shavian, and applied it to any admirer of that noted playwright. It is pronounced SHAY-vi-un. The term is also used as an adjective meaning pertaining to or in the manner of Shaw or his works.

Lake Charles, La.—"The local paper recently said, 'Many young folk attended a certain meeting. Shouldn't that have been folks?' —P. W. C.

Answer.—Fashions change. Since the fourteenth century, the singular, folk, and the plural, folks, have had the same meaning—people in general. But for a number of generations it has been the fashion to use the plural form almost exclusively. In recent years, however, the singular has been restored into favor, with the result that both are now in use.

Fontana, Calif.—"What is the meaning of the initials I. H. S. seen in many churches?" —Miss C. M. V.

Answer.—The emblem, not initials, IHS, is a shortened form of the Greek name for Jesus as it would be spelled by the Greek alphabet. Thus IHS stands for Jes. Sometimes, however, the letters are taken to be the initial letters of either of three Latin phrases: "Jesus Hominum Salvator" (Jesus, Savior of Men), or "In Hoc Salus" (In this is salvation), or "In Hoc Signo Vincis" (In this sign thou shalt conquer).

The Doctor Says...

Investigate Cause Of Frequent Nosebleeding

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

An interesting problem is raised by Mrs. E., who writes that her 7-year-old boy has been troubled with nosebleeds for the past six years. She says they usually start without any apparent cause, and generally at night.

This kind of thing is naturally most distressing to the parents, but it is not too unusual. Many growing children have nosebleeds, without any obvious reason, from time to time.

In general, perhaps, spontaneous nosebleeds of this sort tend to come more frequently in delicate children than in those who are robust.

However, it is often a question as to whether this is serious enough to require treatment, since most youngsters seem to outgrow these recurrent nosebleeds in a few months or years, even without any active treatment.

It is probably best, however, for every youngster who has frequent nosebleeds to be examined to see if a correctable cause can be discovered.

Some of these nosebleeds come from small ulcers in the nose. Some youngsters pick or scratch the inside of the nose or place objects in it, unknown to the parents, and this of course may lead to chronic difficulty inside this organ.

There is a family form of nosebleed which is sometimes found in several generations. This condition is caused by enlarged blood vessels in the nose which frequently rupture and result in nosebleeds at all too frequent intervals.

Several blood diseases can cause nose-bleeds. If the blood does not clot properly, bleeding is particularly likely to show up in various openings of the body, including the nose. In fact, a nosebleed may be the first sign of some bleeding disease.

A nosebleed can develop merely by going to high altitudes. Other possible causes include violent exertion, acute infections and occasionally tuberculosis or chemical poisoning.

High blood pressure may be associated with extensive nosebleeds, though not in children. In such patients bleeding may last a long time and be extremely difficult to stop. It is a question in such cases, however, as to whether the nosebleed is not nature's way of relieving some of the pressure in the blood vessels.

CAN BE QUICKLY STOPPED

Most nosebleeds can be and are rapidly checked. Methods commonly used include pressure on the upper lip, the application of cold to the back of the neck, and the insertion of a little cotton into the nostril itself.

Rest in a position halfway between sitting and lying, accompanied by muscular relaxation, stops most nosebleeds rather rapidly. In severe cases it may be necessary to cauterize or pack the region around the blood vessels in the nose from which the blood is escaping.

The occasional nosebleed is extremely common and usually unimportant, but severe or repeated nosebleeds should be investigated, probably both by a nose specialist as well as by general examination.

Shrewd Adlai Stevenson
Tops With No Campaign

By DREW PEARSON

CHICAGO.—Gov. Adlai Stevenson will go down in history as the man who didn't want to be President.

However, he played his cards
so shrewdly that he saved himself thousands of dollars of campaign expenses, months of campaigning, and the incurring of political debts to all sorts of people—yet he may end up as President just the same.

This, plus the Taft campaign, makes a mockery of the American system of primaries. For, after eight steady months of making speeches throughout the U. S. A.,
Taft and Kefauver finally found two candidates who literally didn't campaign at all cleaning out the chips in the political pot.

Adlai Stevenson has been able to accomplish this partly through political shrewdness, partly through his record as governor of Illinois. On the political side he had the help of one of the most powerful Democratic bosses in the nation, Jake Arvey of Chicago, plus an initial boost from Harry Truman. Furthermore, at the very same time Stevenson was telling the nation he was not a candidate, he was also sitting in a secret huddle with the campaign manager he had disowned, ex-Sen.

Francis Myers of Pennsylvania, together with Mayor David Lawrie of Pittsburgh, Congressman
Sid Yates of Illinois and Gov.
Henry Schricker of Indiana.

Furthermore when Governor
Schricker proposed placing Stevenson's name in nomination—if he had the assurance Stevenson would not disown the draft, Stevenson assured Schricker he would stand still and say nothing.

Friend of Hiss
The man who conceived this coy strategy comes from a family whose grandfather was vice president of the United States, whose father put David F. Houston's name in nomination against John W. Davis at the 1924 convention, and whose great-grandfather,
Jesse W. Fell, a Quaker politician, was responsible for the Lincoln-
Douglas debates.

Twenty years ago Adlai was a corporation lawyer who nobody around Chicago ever dreamed might run for President. Then, in the early days of the New Deal, he was called to Washington to work in Henry Wallace's agricultural department, where incidentally he first met Alger Hiss, which has now opened up the weakest spot in Stevenson's political armor.

For, when Hiss went on trial for perjury, Governor Stevenson, who had seen his work in the State Department, gave him a character deposition. The deposition was never actually used in the trial. However, that testimony supporting Hiss is relied on by the Republicans to knock Stevenson out in November. In fact, this was the chief reason for putting
Sen. Richard Nixon of California on the ticket with Eisenhower, for it was Nixon who uncovered the pumpkin papers which finally put Hiss in jail.

Stevenson and Politics
Adlai Stevenson never aspired to be governor of Illinois. He wanted to be a United States senator and in 1947 he finally made the big decision. Corporate law had no attraction for a young man who had seen two wars, a vast financial panic and the threat of a third world war. He dropped out of his plush law firm for good,
systematically set about wooing
Chicago boss Jacob M. Arvey for a place on the Democratic ticket.

Colonel Arvey is a shrewd politician who sensed that post-war America was getting fed up with political hacks in high public office, therefore he adopted Robespierre's famous remark that "there goes my mob down the street, I must rush to their helm and lead them."

Arvey met Stevenson through Jimmy Byrnes at a luncheon in Senate Secretary Leslie Billie's office in Washington.

"Don't you know you've got a gold nugget out there in Illinois in Adlai Stevenson?" Byrnes asked Arvey.

Arvey confessed he had never heard of Stevenson. A few days later, some of Stevenson's friends in the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations formed a "Stevenson for Senator Committee."

That was the build-up for the man who didn't want to be President.

Ford Explores U. P. Iron Ore

DETROIT — (AP) — The Ford Motor Co., reporting on three years of geological explorations of its land holdings in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, said today it expects to finish the work this season.

Ford is exploring 350,000 acres in Baraga, Dickinson, Marquette and Iron counties for new mineral formations which may be of industrial or defense use.

Future use of low grade ore is contemplated. Ford said that new concentration methods "soon may make development of this type of ore an economic possibility."

Low Grade Ores

Exploratory work is under supervision of M. E. Willmott, recently named resident manager of Ford's northern mining properties section with headquarters in Iron Mountain.

In 1949 Ford contracted with the M. A. Hanna Co. for research in Ford's southern Dickinson County properties.

In its statement today Ford said that for two years Hanna has been drilling to determine the low grade iron ore reserve of the area.

"The developers hope," Ford said, "that sufficient tonnage will be proven in the drilling to warrant construction of a commercial plant."

Ford said it is negotiating lease of its Titan mine property near three lakes in Baraga County to the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. Ford said the property is too small for independent operation.

Study Shale Resources

In addition, Ford said it has encouraged exploration for uranium-bearing materials on its lands. Drilling has been conducted in northern Baraga with the U. S. Atomic Energy commission.

"To date results have been negative but exploratory work will be continued until every possibility is exhausted," Ford said. The company also said it has attempted to use graphite shale found near L'Anse but that commercial production is prevented by the absence of the required low electrical power rates for this type of operation.

Ford pointed out that exploration on the Marquette range at Humboldt resulted last fall in the start of mining operations on a property which had been dormant since 1920.

Prison Riot Boosts State Police Load

LANSING — (AP) — The necessity of keeping a riot detail at the state prison of Southern Michigan cut into other activities last month, State Police reported today.

During the month officers available for patrol and general police work made 6,522 arrests. This was 20 per cent below the 8,166 arrests the same month a year ago.

The report showed, however, that a number of officers have been released from the prison detail since the outbreak of the riot on April 20. The additional manpower accounted to a large extent for a 26 per cent increase in June over the 5,176 arrests made in May, police said.

Chinese Can Repel Formosa Invasion, Fichteler Thinks

MANILA — (AP) — Adm. William M. Fichteler, U. S. chief of naval operations, said today Chinese Nationalist forces on Formosa have "better than a good chance" of repelling any Communist invasion attempt.

He also told a news conference the U. S. Navy in Korea has planes capable of carrying tactical atomic bombs.

The admiral, on a tour of U. S. Navy establishments in the Far East, called the Philippines "a key post in the whole general concept of Western Pacific defense" and said if the Philippines were attacked "we would step into the picture."

Symbiosis is the term used to describe the status of two organisms which live together to mutual advantage as the plants and algae which together form lichens.

TEEN TALK

BY VIVIAN BROWN

Are you planning a bridal shower for a sister or girl friend? If so, keep in mind that it is better to consult the bride-to-be about her preference in showers, unless you know the contents of her hope chest.

Essential showers are kitchen, bathroom and linen. Every bride needs a supply of these things, in order to establish her home. If she does choose one of these categories, be sure to give her the basics.

It might be fine, for instance, to give an electric mixer or blender or pressure cooker, but more important in a kitchen shower are such necessary things as pots, pans, juice extractor, potato masher, a set of good cutlery to perform jobs from paring to carving the roast, an opener (most important), roasting pan, food grinder, flour sieve, pancake burner, measuring cups, refrigerator storage dishes, rolling pin, strainers, dish rack for drying dishes.

Those are "musts" for any kitchen.

And other "almost musts" should be added after these are in the bag. These extras are (and the bride should try to acquire them) as soon as her budget will permit—cane puffs, casseroles, Dutch oven, double-boiler, pie tins, teapot, break box, canister set, cookie and biscuit cutters, deepfat frying basket, pressure cooker, graters, mixing bowls, rotary beater, spatulas, thermometers, timers, tongs for grasping hot foods such as corn, asparagus, etc., wooden spoons and forks.

A linen shower should consist mainly of sturdy towels, sheets and pillow cases, prettily initialed. After a good selection of these, if there is more money available, such things as cocktail napkins, place mats and napkins, guest towels, luncheon sets, bath mats and bridge sets can be included. Blankets, spreads, fancy linens and other more expensive items probably will be supplied by the immediate family.

Some brides-to-be prefer a personal shower. This is particularly important to the girl who has not had time to save for such pretties as nightgowns, negligees, slippers, perfume, slips and hosiery, all acceptable and desirable gifts.

When planning a shower of silver or glassware, the bride-to-be should be consulted about patterns. If she has a yen for sterling silver, do not substitute silver plate. It would be better to give her one or two place settings of sterling than four of plate. Ten girls, pooling their money or a present, usually can manage one and possibly two place settings of sterling silver.

The same rule applies to glassware. If she has selected an expensive pattern, give her the pieces you can afford. Perhaps you will just be able to manage the water goblets, or a combination of those and a set of wine glasses. In any case she will appreciate whatever you can give her of her own pattern, rather than one you select.

Things which are taboo for showers and also for wedding presents (unless they are requested) are: lamps, vases, pictures (unless silver or glass), ashtrays (unless silver or glass) and anything of an odd color or elaborate design. These things are a matter of personal taste. Don't confuse the bride by giving her an expensive gift of something such as a lamp in an odd color that she will need to build color scheme around.

Most girls plan a shower this way: If it is a bathroom shower, for example, they price accessories from bath mats to scented soap towels usually are included in the bathroom shower), determine how much must be spent, including the cost of decorations and refreshments. Then each girl is told the approximate cost. If all agree, they go ahead with the planning. Otherwise, the cost is up to the right price.

When cutting down expenses, omit little favors for each guest. These can run into a good deal of money and one main centerpiece in a shower motif—such as crepe paper umbrella—should suffice.

Washable Fabrics Exciting News

By GGAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK —(NEA)— Ever think the day would come when you'd wash out a coat at night, hang it up to dry and find it looking like new and ready to wear the next morning?

That day is here. A pastel coat with no cleaning bills attached has been the dream of many women for many years. The dream is an actuality now, made possible by flutty orlon fleece that is completely and beautifully washable.

It takes to the suds at night, just as your nylon dress goes on a hanger for drying and is ready for wearing when you get up in the morning. And, of course, it needs no ironing.

It's shown (left) in white, with pointed collar, turn-back cuffs adjustable to any sleeve length and pretty but unexaggerated fullness. A Leeds design, it's the kind of coat, in short, that you can wear and wear without fear of grime or smudges. In addition to the white, it's done in pale blue, maize and beige.

Equally practical is Main Street's nylon seersucker coat (right) that's a feather-light rain duster. Point for summer travelers is that it takes only a corner in a suit case. It has mandarin collar and deep turn-back cuffs. The practical hood is detachable.

AS WE LIVE

Sudden Personality Change Indicates Poor Adjustment

By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D.
Personality changes, within a short period of time, are symptoms of trouble. People change their personalities slightly as they grow older but the changes come slowly and gradually. This woman should be on her guard for possible trouble ahead.

(Q) "I used to be so pleasant and friendly. Now, since I'm married, I am forever fighting and holding a grudge. Occasionally, I refuse to talk, especially at home, and for several days I hardly say a word. Then I automatically come out of it. Am I going out of my mind? Is there anything I can do to help myself?"

(A) At the moment, you are not going out of your mind but there is no guarantee that you won't, some time in the future, unless you do something to correct the cause of the change that has come over you since your marriage.

The best thing you can do is to tell your doctor the whole story. After a complete physical check-up, he will know if there is some physical or glandular cause for the change.

If he recommends that you see a psychiatrist, follow his advice. He may feel that you are not making a satisfactory adjustment to your marriage and that you need professional help along these lines.

When a person is poorly adjusted to some situation, whether it be school, work, or marriage, the effect carries over to every area of his life. Usually it makes him quarrelsome and vindictive. In your case, you show some of the characteristic symptoms of maladjustment. And because these symptoms have developed since your marriage, it suggests that the trouble will be found in the adjustment you have made to your marriage.

Not wanting to talk to people, especially the members of your family, looks as if the chief chip on your shoulder concerns them. If you truly loved your husband and the other members of your family, you would not want to hurt them. Are you sure that you are as happy in your marriage as you had anticipated and that you are not suffering from disillusionment?

Elizabeth Hurlock is a consulting psychologist. Write her in care of this newspaper for free advice.

A gallon of hot water and a cup each of baking soda, ammonia and vinegar will make a good wall-washing solution. Go over a few feet of wall with the solution and then wipe dry with clear water.

You receive a letter from a friend and think it might be nice to send it on to a mutual friend.

WRONG: Do so without considering whether or not there is anything in the letter that might have been meant for you alone.

RIGHT: Read the letter carefully to make sure that the person who wrote it would not mind its being sent on to someone else.

Change Phone Co. Name Aug. 1

The name of the Michigan Associated Telephone Company will be changed to the General Telephone Company of Michigan on Friday, Aug. 1, it is announced by Hugh Kennedy, of Manistique, district manager.

Announcement of the proposed change was made earlier this year and the necessary details have now been completed, Kennedy said.

Michigan Associated, which has Upper Peninsula exchanges at Manistique, Gulliver and L'Anse, is a subsidiary of General Telephone Corporation, parent concern of 15 telephone companies operating in 19 states. Names of all major operating companies are being changed to include the word General, thus obtaining greater recognition as the largest independent telephone system in the country, with assets in excess of a third of a billion dollars, the local manager stated.

Officials have emphasized that the change is in name only; properties and personnel will not be affected.

Fin clipping of small bluegills seined Sunday in Peanut Lake revealed that mortality in Monday's heat was relatively small, contrary to initial estimates, it is reported by Dr. C. L. Novak, president of the Schoolcraft County Sportsmen's Club.

Only about 200 of the bluegills died, he said. The fin clipping operation, which produced the first dependable count of bluegills obtained, disclosed that approximately 4,000 of the little pan fish are available for transplanting in the northern part of Indian Lake.

Lake Nineteen Is Included In New Research Project

Lake Nineteen in Schoolcraft County is one of about 60 lakes in Michigan tentatively selected by the Michigan Department of Conservation for a 10-year study program financed with U. S. Dingell-Johnson Act funds, it is announced.

The 10-year program has received federal approval and is the first major research project under the new act.

Lake Nineteen is on the list chosen to be particularly studied for species composition and relative abundance.

Indian Lake is included in a list where game fish collections will be made for growth studies. Big Manistique Lake in Luce and Mackinac counties also is listed in this group.

Preliminary work has started and the big project will be underway by mid-August, according to a conservation department report. Five survey crews, two to three men in each, actually will be in the field three to five months of the year. They will determine: Type and abundance of fish and other aquatic life, their growth and survival, and food, shelter and other environmental factors. From this information they will be able to make recommendations on management practices.

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

How do you like that fight coming up Monday night? ... From this corner it looks like Harry Matthews in a breeze ... The breeze should come from the awkward, a mateurish swings of Rocky Marciano ... We've never seen Matthews in action, but his background indicates he is an intelligent boxer with a capable punch ... Last winter we watched a televised version of Marciano's set-to with the aged and blubbery Lee Savold.

*****

In that bout Marciano committed every mistake in the book—but Savold cooperated nicely by keeping a respectful distance from the Brockton, Mass., slugger's reach ... The thing went six or seven rounds before Savold, not-so-reformed bartender, folded up ... At one point in the fray Marciano kissed the canvas himself after a particularly wild left hook that missed its mark by a yard.

*****

Matthews will admittedly be facing a hard puncher ... There's little doubt that Marciano can knock 'em down if he can hit 'em ... He proved that by putting the finish to a skidding Joe Louis some months back ... But Matthews has handled a few rough boys recently, including the wildman of the ring, southpaw Irish Bob Murphy ... And some pretty second-rate characters have recently gone the distance with Marciano including Ted Lowry, Roland LaStarza, Don Mogard and Red Applegate.

*****

Apparently the two are fighting for big stakes ... Heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott has said he'll give the winner a shot at the crown ... It'll be a 10-rounder Monday night, with no television and no radio broadcast ... The gate at Yankee Stadium is expected to be right up there with the recent big purses for the Turpin-Robinson, Maxim-Robinson, Gavilan-Turner and Walcott-Charles scraps.

Gymnastic Winners Boost Russian's Olympic Margin

HELSINKI — (P) — Thanks to a near sweep by her men and women gymnasts, Russia holds a 32½ to 22½ lead over the United States today in the unofficial Olympic point standing.

The Soviet athletes pulled farther ahead yesterday when their women gymnasts picked up 95½ points and added 22 more in track and field. The U. S. had to settle for 19—the first three places in the 110-meter hurdles.

In gymnastics, which the Russians have dominated one nation can sweep all 25 possible points in an event on the customary basis of 10 points for first place followed by 5-4-3-2-1 for the next

Sunday Softball Has Top Prelim

The first game of Sunday night's doubleheader softball attraction at Memorial Field shapes up as a feature match.

In that game the White Birch of Escanaba's American League will be seeking revenge from the Iron Mountain Liberty Loans. Game time is 7:30.

Blues Lose But Hold Loop Lead

The pace-setting Kansas City Blues of the American Association still think it couldn't have happened.

It was the 13th inning of yesterday's game with Indianapolis at Kansas City when up stepped Indian pitcher Bill Abernathie, hitting .167 with one extra-base blow for the season.

With a mate on base, Abernathie faked a bunt at the first serving of Blues' pitcher Art Schollock. It might not even have been a fake, he may have just plain missed.

On the next pitch, Abernathie swung from the heels and the ball went over the left field fence 365 feet away to give Indianapolis a 9-8 victory over the Blues.

The loss didn't hurt Kansas City's ½-game lead over runner-up Milwaukee because the Brewers last night bowed to Louisville, 5-4.

Last-place Charleston ended 19 scoreless innings with three first frame tallies and went on to whip St. Paul 9-3 behind Bill Connelley's eight-hit pitching.

Outfielder Russ Derry of Columbus continued his hot hitting streak with a homer, double and single for three RBIs in the Red Birds' 14-11 win over Minneapolis in seven innings.

Mathias Starts Strong In Olympic Decathlon Event

HELSINKI — (P) — Marjorie Jackson of Australia equalled the world record and broke the Olympic mark for the women's 200 meter dash today. Miss Jackson, who already has won the 100 meter title in world record time, was timed in 23.6 seconds to tie the world record set by Stella Walsh in 1935.

This was the 20th Olympic record to be broken.

Bob Mathias in men's and women's track and field events. Two have been tied. Four world records have been broken and one equalled.

Miss Jackson set her record in winning the third semifinal heat from Catherine Hardy of Fort Valley, Ga.

In the second semifinal Nadezhda Khynkina of Russia was timed in 24.3 seconds, also surpassing the Olympic record of 24.4 set by Fanny Blankers-Koen of Holland in 1948.

Whitefield Third

Arthur Wint of Jamaica, the defending champion, won the first semi-final heat in the 400 meters run. Karl Friedrich Haas of Germany was second and Mal Whitefield of the United States was third. The first three qualified for today's five finishers.

A country is permitted to enter eight competitors in each event of the gymnastic competition and there are 15 of them. In other types of individual competition countries are limited to three entries.

The top 10:

1. Russia 323½.
2. United States 221.

16-Year-Old Is Popular Golfer

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — (P) — He may not go beyond today's fourth round, but even so Brock Stokes of Nashville, Tenn., has already scored high in the National Junior Golf championships here. He is probably the most popular youngster among the 16 survivors.

Certainly he hasn't been lacking for rosters. And today, the 16-year-old lad, who has been playing for only three years, has an added incentive as he tees off against Kent Hurburt of Salina, Kans. He'll be wanting to win for his dad.

Dad is Nashville attorney, Whitworth Stokes, who according to Brock, undergoes surgery this morning. Dad is also "the wonderful man who gave me a set of golf clubs for Christmas in 1949 even though I never played before. I wanted to show my appreciation, so I decided to put them to use as soon as possible. Now, here I am in a national tournament."

Young Stokes has raced through three formidable opponents so far and those who have seen him play, or been his victims, laud his sound game and spirit. To compete at the tough Yale course, he rode 32 hours in a bus, and has been on the go since.

The Umpire

By BEANS REARDON
24 Years in National League
Written for NEA Service

Question: Who was the last major league ball player to manufacture an unassisted triple play?

Answer: Johnny Neun, playing first base for Detroit pulled the trick against Cleveland, May 31, 1927.

Q. A batter is on a consecutive hitting streak, and on his first time at bat in the next game he pops up. The game, however, is rained out before the contest becomes official. Does that time at bat interrupt his hitting streak?

A. No, since the game is unofficial everything connected with it is struck off the records. Thus his streak is still alive going into the next game.

Barks Topple Bears 4-0 As Rademacher Hurls Three-Hitter

Righthander Joe Rademacher handcuffed the Escanaba Bears to three scattered singles here last night in pitching the Bark River Barks to a 4-0 non-league victory over the Tri County leaders.

Rademacher was in great form, whiffing nine Esky batsmen and issuing only one free ticket to first base. In five innings he retired the Bears in order and he faced only 29 official batters. Only one Bear runner got as far as third base.

Bear hurler Jack Chriske's mound performance was marred by a pair of doubles, with a base on balls sandwiched between, in the third inning. He allowed only four hits in all, fanned a half-dozen and walked two.

Score On Doubles

Bark River staged its first scoring effort in the third inning after two were out. Centerfielder Derocher lashed a double to left field and Dave Kwarciany walked. Ben Kleiman lined deep into center field to score both the runners and pulled up at second base when Bob L'Houillier slipped to the turf in the wet outfield while chasing the ball.

White Birch, Dells Rack Up S-Ball Wins

White Birch continues to dominate Escanaba American softball league as the league leaders racked up a 9-4 victory over Phil & Ev's last night at Flat Rock.

Fran Lancour took his turn on the White Birch mound and fashioned a neat four-hitter. White Birch batters combed Tom Bryack for 14 safeties.

The Dells edged Power & Light 5-4 in eight innings at Memorial Field. Ken Dufresne started on the Dells hill but was relieved by Louie Kositzky in the first inning with Power & Light off to a 3-0 lead on a walk and a pair of doubles.

Anderson Homers

Bob Anderson, Dells' catcher, narrowed the gap to 3-2 in the second inning with a homerun with Ed Gauthier on base. Bob Corriveau went the route for Power & Light. It was the seventh straight win for Dells.

Chuck Gouin turned in a two-hit gem as Al's-Press belted Escanaba Township 10-1. Gouin allowed only two men on the bases all night. Dale Rappette, Township leadoff man, singled in the first inning and scored the lone run for the losers. And with two out in the final inning, Ronald Nelson, Township pitcher, singled but was wiped out on a double play to end the inning. Gouin faced only 22 men. Ray Morin and Charlie Gafner homered for Al's.

11th Win

In another National League clash St. Thomas posted its 11th win in 13 starts by downing Westby's Service 9-4 behind three-hit pitching by George Bartley. Ron Joran and Mike Greis each poled two hits for St. Thomas. Steve Piche went the distance for Westby's. Jo Johnston, St. Thomas catcher, slammed an inside-the-park homer. Bill Henuis got the other two St. Thomas hits.

Paper Mill edged No Names 4-3 in the remaining American League game last night. Paul Larson notched the win with Ike Eis the loser.

Al Besselink Is Golf Threat

SIoux CITY, Ia. — (P) — Al Besselink, a friendly curly-haired blond, may be on his way to picking up some big money along professional golf's tournament trails.

The big fellow, making his first full-year swing over the PGA tour, went into the second round of the $15,000 Sioux City Open today with a two-stroke lead over his nearest foe. He got there with a 65, seven under par, for the 6,506-yard Elmwood course.

Besselink, who registers from Escondido, Calif., because the Chicago company for whom he works moved West, said "I was lucky to get that 65." But PGA officials aren't so sure.

One said the 28-year-old Merchantville, N. J., native has been "a threat in tournaments all season. One of these times he's going to break through." If he does he'll take a $2,400 first place prize away from here, perhaps to Escondido, a place he admits he never has seen.

But there is plenty of trouble ahead for Al in this 72-hole test. Right behind him with 67's were Doug Ford of Harrison, N. Y., who is the sixth best money maker among the professionals this season, and Iverson Martin of Maplewood, N. J.

Martin, who had a front nine 37, one over par, sizzled the back nine for a 30, using only 10 putts during his terrific finishing pace.

It was a windswept course yesterday and many of the scores were high. Buck White of Greenwood, Miss., the 1951 winner here, soared to a 77, far away from his first round 68 of last summer.

Best of the amateurs was E. M. Poling of Beatrice, Nebr., who had a 72.

Walcott's Manager Puts Nix On Offer From Ezzard Camp

CINCINNATI — (P) — Joe Walcott's manager yesterday killed promoter Sam Becker's offer to match Walcott and Ezzard Charles in another heavyweight boxing championship.

Becker yesterday telegraphed a $200,000 guarantee to Walcott, reigning heavyweight king, to meet Charles here in September.

But a telegram from Felix Bochiechio, Walcott's manager, said "thanks very much for your kind offer. Regret not interested at present time."

Walcott took the title from Charles and beat him in a return match.

Hurley's Athlete Makes With Words

NEW YORK — (P) — It was a dirty trick to call manager Jack Hurley to the telephone, but the boxing writers had to find out if Harry Matthews could talk for himself. The answer was "yes."

When Hurley hustled out of the locker room in the CYO gym, the boys closed in on "The Athlete," who was calmly ripping the black tape off his hands after a three-hour workout for Monday's Yankee Stadium date with Rocky Marciano.

Matthews seemed to understand that the writers were puzzled by his casual gym work, wondered why he wasn't throwing more punches to prepare himself for the swarming Brockton, Mass. slugger.

Steady Trainer

"You fellows can't understand why I don't rip into my sparring partners," said Matthews. "You don't realize I've been in training all the time. Since Christmas I never had more than a week or 10 days off."

Matthews appeared to relish the chance to answer questions and talk shop.

"Yes, I think I can win by a knockout," he said. "I feel like I'm dead."

All-Stars Open Grid Practice

DELAFIELD, Wis. — (P) — All Star practice, geared to a double platoon system, opened officially today for football's big August classic against the Los Angeles Rams at Chicago's Soldier Field exactly three weeks hence.

All-Star coach Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech yesterday greeted most of his 53-player collegiate squad as physical tests were given and equipment distributed at the team's St. John's military academy quarters. A dozen or so players will be tardy for various reasons.

Dodd immediately split his coaching staff into offensive and defensive units so little time would be wasted readying the collegiate aces for their showdown with the national football league champions the night of Aug. 15.

Dodd placed Stu Holcomb of Purdue, Jim Tatum of Maryland and Frank Broyles of his own Georgia Tech staff in charge of offense. The defensive coaches will be Bob Voights of Northwestern, Henry (Red) Sanders of UCLA and Ray Graves, another Georgia Tech aide.

Dodd, Holcomb and Tatum are proponents of the T or split T attack, while all four All-Star quarterbacks are in T formation specialists. They include Al Dorow of Michigan State, Vito Parrilli of Kentucky, Darrell Crawford of Georgia Tech and Bill Wade of Vanderbilt.

Win Second Straight From Cards

Are Giants Starting Bid?

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Are the New York Giants starting their big push?
Two straight over the red hot St. Louis Cardinals while Brooklyn split four with their "cousins" from Cincinnati has revived pennant talk at the Polo grounds.

Still 6½ games behind the Brooklyn Dodgers, the Giants can draw new hope from the performance of Max Lanier, the ex-Cardinal. A sad disappointment in early Spring, Lanier appears to be rounding into his old hot weather form. At least he has the weather running his way.

Lanier's six-hitter against his old St. Louis mates yesterday for a 9-5 decision was his fourth win in his last five games. The 36-year-old lefty had been beaten the last three times he faced the Cards.

Bobby Thomson, Dave Williams, Sal Yvars and Jim Rhodes hit home runs in the Giants' 11-hit attack on loser Harry Brecheen and three others.

The Giants almost made up more ground but Brooklyn came back to shade Cincinnati, 2-1, on Duke Snider's 11th inning homer after the Reds had won the first

Raise Total Of Olympic Records Smashed To 18

HELSINKI—(AP)—Fifteen days, 20 events completed, 18 records equalled or broken.
That's the tremendous pace the track and field athletes are setting in the 1952 Olympic games.

Twelve events remain to be decided before the track and field division of this gigantic sports carnival closes Sunday.

Records can be expected in almost all of them.

Mark already have been lowered in two events that are not yet complete. Eight men shattered the 3,000-meter steeplechase record in Wednesday's heats.

And the mark probably will tumble even lower in today's final when FBI man Horace Ashenfelter of New York clashes with Vladimir Kazantsev, Russian ace.

Czech Stars
Another Russian, Bruno Jack, bettered the 10,000-meter walk mark in the first heat yesterday.

But the starts of the show yesterday were the record smashing Zatopeks of Czechoslovakia. Emil, balding, clumsy looking Czech army officer, ran the fifth fastest 5,000 meters in history, reducing the Olympic standard to 14:06.6.

His attractive wife, Dana, tossed the Javelin 50.47 meters (165 feet 7.05 inches) for a record in her division. It was the first time a husband and wife had received Olympic gold medals on the same day.

half of a doubleheader, 3-2. As a result the Dodgers now have a 14-3 edge in season play over the Reds.

Snider's smash was the 100th homer of his big league career. It came off Frank Smith who took up the pitching job after Ewell Blackwell was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the 10th.

Bubba Church, the ex-Phil who had yielded the Dodgers 49 runs in 43 innings since the start of the 1951 season, shut them out until the seventh inning of the opener. Despite Rube Walker's run-scoring double in the seventh and Jackie Robinson's 11th homer in the eighth, he went the route for his second win. Andy Seminick homered for the Reds.

Rookie Stars
Ed Mathews, a top candidate for National league "rookie of the year" hit his 16th homer and later scored on Walker Cooper's double in Boston's 3-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs. Sid Goron also homered for the Braves. The Phillies and Pittsburgh were not scheduled.

Talk of a New York Yankee runaway in the American fad as Cleveland handed Tom Morgan a 4-2 loss in his last ball game before joining the Army. The win squared the series between the two contenders, leaving the fourth-place Tribe ½ game back of the Yanks and only one percentage point behind third-place Washington.

14th Mound Win
Mike Garcia registered his 14th win and third over the Yanks with a seven hitter. He had a shutout until the sixth when Yogi Berra's 21st homer tied the score.

Homers by Joe Tipton and Dale Mitchell and a two-run single by Johnny Berardino off reliever Ed Lopat accounted for the Cleveland scores.

With a chance to gain on the Yanks, both the runnerup Boston Red Sox and Washington fell down. Boston was shut out by Chicago's Lou Kretlow, 3-0, winning his first game of the season. Kretlow allowed only two hits and struck out nine. Sam White doubled in the second and Faye Throneberry beat out a bunt in the third for the only hits.

Walt Drope continued his long distance hitting for Detroit with a two-run tie-breaking homer in the eighth inning for a 4-2 edge over Washington.

The St. Louis Browns ended their seven-game losing streak with a 4-3 win over the Philadelphia A's on Bobby Young's sixth-inning homer.

Tigers Top Senators 4-2, Entertain Yanks Tonight

DETROIT—(AP)—Manager Fred Hutchinson—suddenly blessed with strong pitching arms on his Tiger staff—is all set to throw his top hurlers at the leading New York Yankees this weekend.

Hutch will lead off with Art Houtteman (5-13), the young questionmark who surprised with a 2-1 victory in his last start.

Houtteman will face the Cleveland (5-5) tonight and the brow may range anywhere from 40,000 to 50,000.

Hutch, since taking over, has cut the margin separating his last place club from seventh almost in half.

Four of Five
Here at home the Tigers have won four of five under Hutch.

They defeated the Washington Senators 4-2 yesterday on Walt Drope's two-run homer in the eighth that broke a tie. Left-hander Bill Wight almost had a shutout—but Senator Mickey Vernon spoiled it with a two-run homer in the first of the eighth.

They were out again yesterday 10 to 7.

Need Hits
Five of the hits came in the Tigers' last two innings and scored all the runs.

The Tigers broke a scoreless deadlock for the 4,027 fans in the last of the seventh. Drope walked and was moved to second by Johnny Groth's sacrifice bunt. Mapes singled to center to score Drope and moved to third on Matt Batts double into left field.

At Federoff's fly to left scored Mapes after the catch.

The Senators tied it right up. For the Tigers in the eighth Fred Hatfield singled and with two out Drope came to bat. Walt, the club's leading hitter, had flopped in his last seven official trips.

But with the count two strikes and one ball, he tagged loser Randy Gumpert for homer No. 16 into the lower left field stands.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—The long, hard road that leads toward victory in the famed Davis Cup tennis matches opens here today for Japan and the United States.

The one-time opponents in a serious shooting war were to face each other across a tennis net at the Cincinnati Tennis Club in the first two singles matches of the Davis Cup zone competition. Play was to begin at 2 p. m.

Jiro Kumamaru, Japan's No. 1 player, was to face Dick Larsen, the unpredictable Sam Leander, the unpredictable Sam Leander, the unpredictable Sam Leander.

Match, star in the opening singles match while Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, America's No. 1 player, was paired against Atsushi Miyagi, 20-year-old "freshman". The order will be reversed in the remaining two singles duels Sunday.

The doubles match will be played tomorrow. It apparently was a cinch that Billy Talbert of New York, the N. S. team's captain, and Gardner Mulloy of Miami, Fla., would represent the United States.

Sprint Slam
Although Jack Davis of Glendale, Calif., and Arthur Barnard of Long Beach, Calif., finished second and third back of Dillard for the United States' third grand slam, the Americans lost ground to the Russians in the total point score.

Going into today's sixth day of competition, the Soviet had piled up 323½ points to 221 by the United States. Russia's big point getters have been its men and women gymnasts. Hungary is a distant third with 87 points followed by Sweden with 67½, Switzerland with 58 and Czechoslovakia with 56½.

The program shifts emphasis slightly today with the start of the basketball tournament, in which the United States is highly favored to retain its title, the shooting competition, weight lifting and water polo.

Speed a Hazard All Year Around

Chief Torval Kallerson of the Gladstone police department is reminding motorists that although speed control is being stressed during the current traffic safety campaign in Michigan, the dangers of driving too fast are present all year around.

"Speed," Chief Kallerson said, "is the leading traffic killer every day of the year. Although speed takes its heaviest toll during the summer season, it continues to show up as the predominant factor in traffic deaths during the fall, winter and spring.

"For several weeks the Gladstone police department and other police agencies throughout Michigan have been urging motorists to practice strict self-enforced speed control. The state law itself requires that speed be adjusted to all conditions.

"Last year 1,604 persons were killed and 48,418 injured on Michigan streets and highways. That was a daily average of 137 casualties. The highest daily toll was recorded in July with 160 casualties.

"This traffic record is inexcusable when we realize that most of the accidents injuries and deaths could have been prevented," the chief concludes.

Blacktopping Job To Be Completed By First of Week

Blacktopping of Delta, Railroad and Lowrie avenues from Delta and 14th St., to Lake Shore Drive is under way and probably will be completed so that the road may be opened to traffic early next week.

The procedure is to grade, spray with an asphalt primer and then coat with a two-inch layer of bituminous aggregate and roll.

This binds the top layer to the roadbed and provides an asphalt road three to three and one-half inches in thickness.

The work is being done by a crew of Paul Miller, lower Michigan road contractor, who did a similar job on Tenth street in Gladstone last fall.

Girls Softball Meet Weekend Of Aug. 2-3

The Girls District Softball tournament is to be held in Gladstone on Saturday and Sunday, August 2-3.

Miss Beverly Bird girls physical education teacher at Gladstone high and recreation director, was named tournament manager for the district event.

At the present five teams have been entered. They are the Escanaba Blue Jays, Marquette, Blonnie's Bar of Negaunee, American Soo Chicks and Tim and Sally's of Escanaba. It is expected that three or four more will be entered before time set for drawings.

The tournament will open on the evening of August 2 with two games under the lights at the playground. Sunday there will be two afternoon games with the finals in the evening under the lights.

The winner of this district meet will play the winner of the Copper Country tournament in a three-game series for the Upper Peninsula championship. The first game of that series will be in Gladstone on Sunday, Aug. 10, the second game in the Copper Country and if a third game is necessary, that too will be on a Copper Country diamond.

Umpiring behind the plate at the district event here will be Ray Wahowiak, Gladstone. Other officials are to be named.

Bleachers will be set up and a public address system will be installed to use in keeping the crowd informed at all times. A concession also will be operated.

"Here's an opportunity to see some very good softball played by some very good girls softball clubs of the U. P.," says Miss Burt. "It is an opportunity to help promote girls softball in our town and surrounding territory and it is hoped that everyone who possibly can will come out to see these games. Up to now, there has been very little interest in girls' softball here," Miss Burt concluded.

Kircher to Have Strong Team Says Tony Stambulich

Tony Stambulich, Milwaukee, formerly of Gladstone, was visiting friends here Thursday, just in from the West Coast where he witnessed many of the Olympic trials in track and field events.

While in the West, Tony, who is a walking storehouse of athletic lore and who, since childhood has emulated the famed "One Eyed" Connelly, visited with an old friend, Alton Kircher, head grid coach at Washington State, Pullman, Wash.

Washington State, which was a power in the Pacific Coast conference last fall, will be right back up there this fall, Tony predicts, and he plans to be in Columbus, Ohio, early in October when Kircher's eleven comes east to tangle with Ohio State.
